THE CHRYSANTHEMUM SHOW

Flowers and Decorations Removed This Morning.

IT WAS A FINANCIAL SUCCESS

Card of Thanks from the Ladies—The Big Show Will be Repeated Next Year—The Projectors Pleased.

It made one sad this morning to see the room, where for two days past the flower show delighted hundreds of visitors, being dismantled. It was a "banquet hall deserted" sort of business.

Flowers are one of the three joys of life and they were at the show in all their beauty, perfection and profusion.

There is something indescribably rich about a chrysanthemum show any way. It is a magnificent symphony in flowers—it creeps in on one like the great swell of the organ in old cathedrals.

A chrysanthemum must have suggested to Charles Dana Gibson his American Girl. It is the Diana of the flowers. And then the infinite varieties! When once you become a chrysanthemum lover you can no more keep away from a show than a bee can stay out of the clover in spring time. That probably accounts for some people going to the show a half dozen times a day.

There were men who would slip off from business, and under the pretense of going to the postoffice, drop into the show, morning, noon and night. No one would have imagined them guilty of such a weakness, but they were. They were chrysanthemum struck. And why not? The display was magnificent. A chrysanthemum is never pretty or beautiful, but magnificent.

It is the tout ensemble that fetches you. And there were chrysanthemums of every shade and variety from the purest white to glaring purple and garish yellow. And they were so gracefully and tastefully arranged that all was blended into one stunning whole, leaving nothing to be desired.

No wonder that Mr. A went to see if Mr. B was there—wanted to see him a minute especially—and after he got there waited for him to come. It was the biggest compliment to the show and the man.

Socially it was as great a success as it was florally. Nobody could help being in a good humor, and there were plenty of folks to talk to and there was music and all good things gastronomic.

Repeat it next year! The town would have an everlasting grievance against the good ladies who planned the show otherwise.

Financially it surpassed all expectations. The receipts at the door was $90, and the gross receipts amounted to $320. This will leave $225 to be applied, after deducting the expenses, to the purchase of a carpet for West Market street church.

THE CARD OF THE LADIES.

The ladies of West Market street church Aid Society are highly gratified with the success of their chrysanthemum show and already are planning to repeat it on a much larger scale next year.

They desire to return sincere thanks to all who have liberally patronized them: to Mr. J. Van Lindley for fine collections of plants and cut flowers for decoration, as well as to all others who kindly sent flowers for that purpose; but especially would they express their appreciation of the kindness of the city papers in giving such liberal notices of the exhibit.

SPAIN'S LOAN FAILS.

So the Cortes Will Be Convoked to Get More Credits for Warships.

London, Nov. 12—A despatch to the Daily Mail from Madrid says that the Government, finding it impossible to raise the proposed loan of 80,000,000 pesetas, intends to convoke the Cortes at the earliest possible moment with the view to obtaining more credits for building war ships and rearming the vessels Spain now has.

THAT GAME OF BALL.

The Boys Rolled in this Morning Tired, Sleepy and Happy.

The boys were not looking especially pretty when they landed from the C. F. & Y. V. freight train that brought them up from Wilmington last night. They were in excellent spirits though over the result of yesterday's game and full of stories about it. The field was full of sand burs, where the game was played, and had a big live oak in the middle of it but these little inconveniences did not keep it from being a warm game while it lasted. The sand burs however sadly disfigured the handsome physiognomy of some of the members, quarterback Douglas particularly. There were no serious accidents though the game was attended with some loss of temper and cuticle, Mr. C. G. Wright being deprived of a large section of the latter on the side of his nose. The Wilmington team was very heavy, the three centre men weighing over two hundred pounds each.

THE GAME IN DETAIL.

Wilmington won the toss and had choice of goal. Caldwell kicked off from center of field for touch-back. Ball brought out with Greensboro lined up on 25 yard line. Wilmington kicked the ball to Greensboro's 30 yard line where it was downed by Caldwell. Then the teams lined up for a scrimmage, Greensboro by succession rushes through the line, carried the ball over Wilmington's goal line in 7½ minutes, when Devin scored the touch-down. Devin kicked a beautiful goal. Wilmington kicks off from center of field to Greensboro's 20 yard line, Caldwell fell on the ball. The teams lined up for scrimmage, Greensboro carried the ball forward 15 yards when it was lost to Wilmington on downs. Johnnie Moore skirts Greensboro left end for 11 yds. Moore goes through line for 2 yards. The ball is given to Haywood when Daniels breaks through Wilmington line and forces him back six yards, he again attempts go round Greensboro's left end and Daniels breaks through and forces him back 2 yards when ball goes to Greensboro on downs, this was the only time Wilmington had the ball during the game. Greensboro by live bucking drives the ball to Wilmington's 40 yard line. The ball was then given to Devin who was tackled and and cried down and the referee blew his whistle. Devin then gets up off the ball, when one of the Wilmington players grabs ball and runs to Greensboro's goal with it, Greensboro knowing the ball had been fairly flowned, made no attempt to stop runner. The referee decides the ball dead and Wilmington had no right to take it. Wilmington refused to abide by the decision, Greensboro leaves the field.

Caldwell's superb leap over the Wilmington's left end was the star play. Douglas's passing was accurate and Wharton's work at half-back was excellent, both aided in making touch-down. Score 6 to 0.

WATTERSON SATURDAY NIGHT.

State Normal and Industrial College Entertainment Course.

A course of seven entertainments to be given at the State Normal and Industrial College will begin on Saturday night, November 13th, with Henry Watterson's lecture on "Abraham Lincoln."

The charge of admission to any one of the entertainments will be 50 cents. A course ticket admitting to all the seven will cost $2.

One of the entertainments will be given by the students of the college, and possibly another by the Greensboro orchestra now being organized under the management of Prof. Brockmann.

All the other entertainments will consist of lectures or concerts of the highest order obtainable for the money received for the tickets. There is no desire to make any money by the course for any cause whatever; the only object being to secure a good course of entertainments for the students of the Normal college, and for others who wish to enjoy the entertainments with them.

The course will probably close in March or April with a lecture by President Andrews, of Brown University.

If it be possible to secure Stoddard in one of his great stereopticon lectures, that will be included in the course.

Comfortable seats will be arranged and reserved for those holding course tickets.

None of the other entertainments will take place on Saturday night; Henry Watterson could not be secured for any other night.

Course tickets may be purchased at either of the book stores in the city or at the entrance door tonight.

President.

A POSSIBLE INDUSTRY.

There is No Need to Import Pipe Wood Hereafter.

Col. Olds' correspondence: Prof. Massey writes the following letter to the commissioner of Agriculture:

Thinking further on the subject of brier wood, which is evidently the root of our native Kalmia latifolia (or laurel), it occurs to me to say that I cannot understand how this wood can be imported, since the Kalmia is a genus which belongs exclusively to North America.

Can it be possible that the rough wood is exported and returned here in the shape of pipe blocks?

I know of no country where it grows outside of North America, if we except a single genus which is found in Cuba.

The blocks used may be imported from Canada, and if this is the case it is time for the mountain country of North Carolina to put a stop to this importation.

We have mills all through the mountain section which are making telegraph insulator pins out of the native locust and these mills could easily make pipe blocks, if not turn out the pipes complete.

R. H. Crouch, of High Point, deputy sheriff, spent last night in the city and went home this morning. He was returning from Goldsboro, where he had been to carry Mary Camplain to the Eastern Hospital for the insane. He brought back Lizzie Doolan and placed her in the county home.

NEWS FROM OVER THE SEA.

Russia Keeping An Eye On The War Indemnity.

SENDS IN HER BILL TO TURKEY.

Gladstone Going Blind—Woodford has A Cordial Interview With Moret—Insurgents Dynamite a Train.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

Constantinople, Nov. 13—The Russian Embassy here has made an important announcement to the Turkish government. The substance of this announcement is that if Turkey intends to apply a part of the Greek war indemnity to the increase of the Turkish armament Russia begs to inform Turkey that a large part of the Russia-Turkish war indemnity is still unpaid. The amount still in arrears is a million and three hundred thousand pounds. If the policy of the Turkish government is as indicated Russia will demand the payment of this amount. The Russian pronouncement has strongly impressed the diplomatic corps who believe it is directed against the plans of Turkey to reorganize her navy.

GLADSTONE'S FAILING SIGHT.

London, Nov. 13—Gladstone's sight is failing fast. The nerves and muscles of his face are giving him much trouble. He has been compelled to stop important literary work on which he has been engaged.

ETNURIA ARRIVES.

Queenstown, Nov. 13.—The Cunard line steamship, Etnuria, arrived here today but was unable to land her passengers and mail because of the rough sea. She proceeded for Liverpool.

WOODFORD AND THE DON.

Madrid, Nov. 13—Minister Woodford had a cordial interview with Minister of Colonies Moret. It is understood that Woodford assured Moret that the United States is satisfied with the measures taken by General Blanco.

USING DYNAMITE.

Havana, Nov. 13—The insurgents dynamited and derailed a train between Neuvitas and Purto Principe. No further details have been made public.

BRADSTREET'S REPORT.

The Heavy Bank Clearings a Significant Feature.

New York, Nov. 12—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say: One of the most significant features of the business situation is found in the continued heavy weekly totals of bank clearings, that for six days ending November 11, amounting to $1,347,000,000, an increase of 10 per cent. over the preceding week, and 13 per cent. compared with the second week of November, 1896, when business began to revive sharply in speculative lines. Railroad gross earnings show smaller gains, as comparisons begin to be made with more nearly normal conditions one year ago. The total October earnings of 127 companies operating 100,000 miles of road, aggregate $55,464,339, a gain of $5,000,000 over September and 9 per cent over October a year ago. The gain compares with gains of 14 per cent in September and 12.5 per cent in August over corresponding periods in 1896. The Pacific Southwestern and Central Western roads make the best showing. Other favorable features are the continued firmness and activity in wool, iron and steel. The heavy output of iron and moderate reduction of stocks last week suggests the improbability of the advance in prices of iron and steel next year which so many have hoped for.

FIRE NEAR RAMSEUR.

The Saw Mill, Roller Mill and Cotton Gin of J. R. Parks Burned.

A destructive fire occurred near Ramseur last night. The saw mill, roller mill, cotton gin, 500 bushels of wheat, thirty bales of cotton and a lot of loose cotton, belonging to J. R. Parks, were totally consumed.

The blaze was caused by a lamp being turned over by some one while they were doing night work. Loss about $7,000; no insurance.

Mr. Parks is an uncle of Mr. W. H. Matthews, of Matthews, Chisholm & Stroud, this city.

ARE THEY LIABLE?

A Legal Question Raised as to the Silver Service Given Judge Dick.

Washington. D. C., Nov. 11.—(Special to Richmond Dispatch.)—It is the talk here in official circles that the recent presentation of a silver service to Judge Dick, of the Western Carolina District, at Asheville, N. C. may lead to embarrassing complications. The gift was presented to Judge Dick by United States Commissioners John W. Burton, D. D. Davis, J. T. Patterson, A. T. Summey, George H. Haigler, George C. Neill, W. A. Faucett, E. K. Cunningham, C. W. Tweed, A. B. Allison, M. F. Slaughter, and A. B. Freeman. The action of the commissioners, it is claimed, is in direct violation of law, and subjects them to instant dismissal from the service. Sec. 1784 of the Revised Statutes is quoted in support of this position. It reads follows:

"No officer, clerk, or employee in the United States Government employ shall at any time solicit contributions from other officers, clerks, or employees in the government service for a gift or a present to those in a superior official position; nor shall any such official or clerical superiors receive any gift or present offered or presented to them as a contribution from persons in government employ receiving a less salary than themselves; nor shall any officer or clerk make any donation as as a gift or present to any official superior. Every person who violates this section shall be discharged from the government service."

STOPPED HIS OWN INQUEST.

Brewer Sat Upright and Showed the Coroner He Was Not Dead.

Henderson, Ky., Nov. 12—John Brewer terminated a Coroner's inquest that was being held over his own body yesterday. He dropped apparently dead in front of George Schlamp's grocery. A dozen bystanders put their heads to his breast and decided that the heart was not beating. Then Coroner Sandefur was summoned.

The body was carried to a back room and the Coroner started to hold the inquest. Suddenly Brewer sat bolt upright, looked around for a moment, and suggested that the affair should stop. He explained that he was in no manner responsible for the situation.

Brewer says he has chronic heart trouble and that his cataleptic seizure was due to this ailment. His condition resembled paralysis more than anything else.

Facts Worth Studying.

'If the Southern Stock-Mutual pays no larger dividends than the 20 per cent. now paid, and the business increases during the next seven years in the same ratio it has increased during the last three years, the actual saving for the ten years to policy-holders in North and South Carolina will be $194,822.00, and to the policy-holders in Greensboro alone, $26,237.00. Besides this the Company's assets (reinsurance reserve and surplus) represented by still larger figures will be kept at home and invested in the state. What better investment can the public make than by upholding an institution like this?

THE LATEST INSTANCE.

Mr. Marion Butler, representing North Carolina in the Senate of the United States, is reported, and the report is undenied as yet, to have used this language in a speech at Rocky Mount:

"If colored men commit outrages the democrats pretend to be terribly shocked in public, but when they get behind a wall they laugh until they grow fat, and if the outrages are not frequent enough they hire worthless negroes to commit them."

Mr. Marion Butler may or may not deny that he used such language; those who are acquainted with him and his methods will recognize it at once as either genuine or a marvellous imitation. Much as we should prefer to think he did not use such language, it bears his unmistakable impress. It is only just a little more than he has said before; it is different in degree only, not in kind; it is a little dirtier, a little more demagogic, a slightly clearer revelation of Mr. Marion Butler.

It is just such an utterance as one would expect from a man of Mr. Butler's stamp when he has found himself arrayed against the decency and intelligence of the state and rendered venomous and vicious by his galling position, would blacken and degrade all men to his own low level.

Spurned with disgust by all men of honor and self respect, hated and despised by the better men of his own party, whom he has basely betrayed, snubbed by the republican leaders who dealt with him only to revenge themselves upon democracy, he finds himself isolated with a band of followers which is dwindling day by day. To keep his band together and save himself from the oblivion, his petty soul recognizes as its just meed is now his purpose.

This utterance, so unspeakably vile that we apologize for printing it, is the wail of a man grown desperate. It means that the case of Mr. Butler is not prospering. And yet there are some of his followers who will believe even this last slander upon the manhood of the state. There are some; for the sake of humanity let us hope they are few.

Is there nothing more Mr. Marion Butler would add? Is there not one little delicate touch that will show somewhat more clearly that the state is represented in the senate by a blackguard, as well as a moral and physical coward? Cannot Mr. Marion Butler be just a little more vulgar? Has he really sounded all the depths of his own capacity for being at once small and dirty? Mr. Butler need not be afraid. He runs no risk of losing a reputation, nor can he be expelled from the senate for his declarations on the stump.

And this is the man who talks about "union between the two white men's parties." Does Mr. Butler fancy that the democratic party is so lost to honor that it would choose victory through an alliance with him rather than defeat in fighting to save the state from further disgrace at his hands? Then he will learn his mistake by and by.

It is bad enough to be compelled to wait in silence while he swells and struts, puffed up "with a little brief authority;" his windy tirades, fitted only to "tickle the maggot born in an empty head," were a severe enough affliction; his eternal "I" that stood for Mr. Butler the demagogue was trying; but this gross insult to the state and Mr. Butler, the traducer of his own people, are insupportable.

We have no pleasure in speaking harshly of a man in high a place. We are genuinely sorry that it is impossible for Mr. Marion Butler to be anything but contemptible.

Mr. Pritchard is a republican. It is possible to differ with him radically and still respect him. If any man has been able to preserve respect for himself and Mr. Marion Butler at the same time, he has yet to appear.

And so the white caps tarred and feathered two girls out in Ohio. Ohio is sadly deficient in civilization any way. It is really shocking to hear how the people out there behave themselves. The Missionary societies should take it in hand.

Emperor William is at last supremely happy. He has suceeded in picking a quarrel with Hayti and may indulge his bull-dozing propensities with perfect safety.

As between Thorne and Mrs. Nack it seems clearly a contest as to which has the more vivid imagination.

SATURDAY'S LITERARY CHAT.

[All books and magazines mentioned below may be had at Wharton's book store.]

The current number of the North Carolina Journal of Education is perhaps the best number so far issued. It is gratifying to note the high standard of this publication and it is to be hoped that all teachers of the state and all those who are interested in its educational advancement will lend their hearty support to the Journal.

Miss Haliburton contributes a short story; Mrs. Patterson, of Raleigh, an article on "Astronomy in Primary classes;" Prof. Toy writes on "French and German in Elementary classes;" Prof. Poteat's address on "The Child as Teacher" is given; there is an article on the University; Supt. Mangum of Wilson, discusses the "Basis of Methods;" Miss Florence Slater, of Cornell, gives "An Out-door Lesson;" Professors Claxton and Moses, "Elementary Arithmetic" and "Primary Reading and Spelling" respectively.

***

This is the season when the book store begins to be a temptation and a snare. There are new books and old books, books that bid for favor and books that are never out of favor, books gorgeous, dainty, inviting; books of all kinds bindings, sizes, styles; books in poem and prose. The true book lover simply has to walk by with averted face.

***

Anthony Hope's "Simon Dale" has now reached its fourteenth chapter in the London Queen, and bids fair to prove the most passionate and truly forcible of all his romances, although it is a direct return from his contemporary realm to the old days of French-English intrigue and of cloak and sword. Nell Gwyn is a prominent figure in this tale of how Simon Dale "drank out of the King's cup," and the real heroine is Barbara, whose adventures carry the tale to France and the court of Louis.

Since being in America Mr. Hawkins has been asked as to which of his books he "liked best." "Which do I dislike the least, you might better put it," he answered, with a smile. "One you probably never heard anything about over here; 'The God in the Car,' published three years ago." "Why don't we know about it?" inquired the interviewer. "You didn't like it," the candid author replied.

Among the notable new works about to be issued on American history are Professor Fiske's "Old Virginia and Her Neighbors," Thomas Nelson Page's "Social Life in Old Virginia Before the War," Spears' "History of the American Navy," Molly Eliot Seawell's "Heroes of Our Navy," Barnes' "Yankee Ships and Sailors," the late Justin Winsor's "Westward Movement," Captain Mahan's "Interest of the United States in Sea Power," Col. Henry Inman's "Old Santa Fe Trail," General Horace Porter's "Campaigning With Grant," General Schofield's "Forty-six Years in the Army," Horace Mann's "Education in the United States," Rev. S. H. Cobb's "Story of the Palestines," and Professor White's "R. E. Lee and the Confederacy." Two important magazine serials will be Senator Lodge's "Story of the American Revolution" and Captain Mahan's "American Navy in the Revolution."

***

Two new American serials are Thomas Nelson Page's "Red Rock," to begin in the forthcoming Scribner's, and Mrs. Burton Harrison's "Good Americans," a new society story from her pen, in the Century.

***

Charles F. Lummis has written in "The Enchanted Burro" a series of stories of adventure in New Mexico and Peru.

***

Kate Chopin's "A Night in Acadie" is a volume of tales concerning Louisiana and the South.

***

A half-cynical, half-sympathetic picture of the "smart set" of Washington, D. C., is given by Hobart C. Chatfield-Taylor in "The Vice of Fools." Some of its chapters describe, in contrast, life at one of our military posts. The "vice" of the story is the old one of pride.

***

"Charles Egbert Craddock" reintroduces us to her Tennessee mountaineers in her new romance entitled "The Juggler." This tragedy of a prestidigitator, with its concluding climax of the fatal stabbing in the trick basket, is one of the most dramatic and powerful stories yet written by Miss Murfree.

***

"The Honorable Peter Stirling" is the title of a very readable book, by Paul Leicester Ford. We agree with the Dial, that it is one of the strongest and most vital characters that have appeared in our fiction. Indeed, fiction is scarcely the word to use, the book is so wonderfully realistic. The motive is apparent at the beginning. The hero is a true and earnest reformer, not in words only but teaching by his life that Charity and faith without works are like rain-bows without the sun which vanish and are dissipated by a cloud. The tender touches are exquisite, the humor bright and sparkling, the pathos not unlike that of Dickens. Through it all runs a strain of romance, like a golden thread through a string of pearls tinting and softening with the light of beauty. We commend it to all lovers of a pure, strong story, well told in forcible Anglo Saxon. The author says modern novelists don't find beauty and nobility in life because they don't look for them. Mr. Ford has looked for, found them and given them to us. X

Why He Kept Away From the Klondike.

They had been talking of the Klondike.

"But you have nothing to lose," urged the other.

The man shrugged his shoulders and drew his rags together.

"With bacon at $1 a pound!" he said ironically.

"When have you tasted bacon here at 10 cents?" questioned the other.

Again the man shrugged and tucked in his rags.

"And flour at $50 a barrel."

"When have you tasted bread?"

Again that silent shrug.

"You are starving now," persisted the other.

"Yes, but"—

"But what?"

"It's cheaper to starve here!"

And it is also warmer.—Chicago Record.

Sudermann's Drama Forbidden.

In Berlin the police have forbidden the representation of Hermann Sudermann's new drama, "Saint John," alleging that subjects borrowed from the Old or the New Testament ought not to be put upon the stage. The management of the Deutsches theater says that it is taking steps to have this measure repealed. Meanwhile it has invited the dramatic critics of Berlin to a private meeting, where, upon hearing the play read by Sudermann himself, they may be able to judge of the reasons which could have influenced so rigorous a censure. The first representation of the drama was to take place in October.

RELIGIOUS THOUGHT.

Gems of Truth Gleaned From the Teachings of All Denominations.

No nation can exist unless its people are possessed of the spirit of brotherly love.—Rev. J. Allen Kirk, Baptist, Boston.

The Things to Do.

To do good to others, to relieve suffering, to nurse the sick, to save young lives by education and all similar efforts carry their rewards with them.—Rabbi Gottheil, New York.

The Value of Praise.

Disraeli says that the praise of a fool is incense to the wisest. But praise is worth most when it is sincere and from a competent judge.—Rev. Dr. Gullette, Methodist, Cincinnati.

How to Get Rid of Trouble.

How to get rid of trouble? I'll give you one recipe that never fails: Go and find some one with worse trouble than your own and try to help him or her bear it.—Rev. Dwight L. Moody, Evangelist, Chicago.

The Measure of Men.

Every man has his measure, and each day, by the kind of love or affection we are adding to or taking from those things, are we made manly or angelic.—Rev. D. V. Bowen, New Jerusalem Church, San Francisco.

One Idea of Hell.

My idea of hell is sin, which carries with it terrible punishment, either in this life or that which comes after. If an offender is not redeemed, the end is death, extinction of being.—Rev. Lyman Abbott, Congregationalist, Brooklyn.

The Liquor Traffic.

It is not the question of gold or silver that concerns the farmer, nor is it tariff or free trade that is ruining business. It is the constant drain of the liquor traffic that impoverishes all classes.—Rev. J. B. Dunn, Secretary of the National Temperance Society, New York.

Only Specialists Succeed.

The knowledge that has accumulated of late years has become so vast that a man, in order to succeed in the world and make his work of value to his fellow beings, must concentrate his efforts on some special line of knowledge.—Rev. Robert Macdonald, Baptist, Boston.

A Home and Its Queen.

The real and true man desires to build a home and crown a real and true woman queen of it. The crowning desire of womanly nature is to be the angel of a pure man's life and the maker of his home. Queens, not kings, rule the world.—Rev. A. Crow, Methodist, St. Louis.

No Hell of Literal Fire.

Not many preachers believe in a hell of literal fire, nor do the orthodox churches generally care to insist upon endless punishment. There is something in our age of kindness to dumb brutes even that makes it seem out of place.—Rev. H. W. Thomas, People's Church, Chicago.

Paul Not a Partisan.

Paul was not a man that leaders could do much with. He never would have been a Republican or Democratic partisan, for that means ordinarily mortgaging one's integrity. He made no bargains with anything or anybody.—Rev. Charles H. Parkhurst, Presbyterian, New York.

Newspaper Responsibilities.

Has not the newspaper a responsibility? Will not the people read what they print? Why not, then, print purer matter? Think you that the people's demand will answer before heaven? Is a man clearly guiltless who gives poison to a man who demands it? No person can rise higher than the literature he takes into his home and reads.—Rev. W. W. West, Baptist, Pittsburg.

Texas Mud.

Did you ever see Texas mud? Why, down there lots of times a man has to take the load out of his wagon and leave the wagon stuck in the mud in the middle of the streets. If a woman puts her foot down, you would think the impression was made by a cow. If a man steps there—one of these men with liberal feet—you would think that some one had been taking up sod.—Rev. Dr. Wharton, Evangelist, Kansas City.

Life's Westward Windows.

There are times when the question as to the certainty of a future life does not seem to be a very pressing or vital one. The present life perhaps too completely fills the entire horizon. Yet death's shadow menaces youth even, and though a man be in the morn of vigor and of duty he cannot help remembering at least now and then he must soon begin to look out of life's westward windows.—Rev. Wayland Hoyt, Baptist, Philadelphia.

What Is a Church?

I want to say a few words about the usages and misusages of the English language. In my boyhood days what is now called the church was known as the meeting house; now it's called entirely a church. I do not think this a good change of usage. I think a church is a body of God's people, and not a building in which to meet. I have struggled against the change, but have been unable to resist it. I grieve that we have surrendered to such innovations.—Rev. W. H. Whitsitt, Baptist, Atlanta.

Europe's Secular Sunday.

The history of European nations shows that the secularizing of Sunday is a long step toward the enslaving of the laborer. With the open museums, theaters and galleries will come the open stores and shops. It was but a short time since I saw in one of our great dailies the following statement from its Paris correspondent: "Sunday brings no respite here. On the contrary, it is the day when they work the hardest. On no other day are the theaters so crowded, on no other day are the butchers' stalls frequented by more customers. It is not a day of rest in Paris; it is a day of activity."—Rev. W. F. Richardson, First Christian Church, Kansas City.

SAFELY SECRETED.

A Woman Hides Her Jewels, and the Police Have to Help Find Them.

Mrs. Ella L. Swayne, an attractive widow of West Seventy seventh street, New York, would have been spared three weeks of anxiety and her household would not have been thrown into a state of unquiet had she remembered where she had put a chamois bag containing jewelry valued at $3,600 and four $100 bills for safe keeping.

One of the servants saw the bag on a table on Aug. 8, and, fearing her mistress had forgotten the jewelry, carried the bag to her room. Mrs. Swayne examined the contents of the bag, found everything safe and tucked the bag away in a nook in a bureau drawer.

Mrs. Swayne wanted to wear the jewelry the next day, but the bag could not be found. Every one in the house was questioned. No one had seen the bag, the jewels or the money.

Detectives were called to the house, and they peered into every nook and cranny, examined all the doors and windows and shadowed everybody who was in or came to the house. They found nothing.

The episode had almost been forgotten when the police captain of the precinct received a note from Mrs. Swayne stating that the jewels had been found. One of the detectives called at Mrs. Swayne's residence to learn where they had been found.

"It was among some sewing in a bureau drawer on the third floor, just where I put it," Mrs. Swayne said sweetly.

"Just like a woman!" muttered the detective.—New York Herald.

AFTER THIRTY YEARS.

Body Bound In Alpine Ice Released at the Base of the Range.

Captain Henry Arkwright, who was aid-de-camp to the lord lieutenant of Ireland, a guide, Michel Simond, and two porters, Francois and Joseph Tournier, were killed by an avalanche on the grand plateau of Mont Blanc in October, 1866. The bodies of the guide and the porters were found after a week, but Captain Arkwright's body was only recently recovered from the ice, 9,000 feet below where he died. All except the feet and head was recovered. The right hand was marvelously lifelike. The ice had preserved in it the red tint of blood.

From the pocket of his gray waistcoat was drawn a white, blue bordered handkerchief as good as new, with his name on it. The deceased officer's collar had in it a gold stud, and in his shirt front was a larger one, set with a diamond star. The wreck of a silver cigarette case was in his pocket, and his gold watch and chain were on the ice near where the body was found. The justice of the peace, the mayor, a doctor and the local gendarmes held an inquest over the body, found after a lapse of a little over 30 years, in the shadow of Mont Blanc.—New York Tribune.

New Steamship Company.

Camden, N. J., Nov. 12—The States steamship company was chartered under the laws of this state today with $7,000,000 capital.

Charles H. Cramp is president. The company acquires from the International Navigation company the five steamers, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Conemaugh, and will put them in service between Seattle and Alaskan ports.

The Ohio will sail from New York today and ship a cargo from Philadelphia for Pacific ports. The five steamers are due at Seattle by March 1st.

Something to Depend On.

Mr. James Jones, of the drug firm of Jones & Son, Cowden, Ill., in speaking of Dr. King's New Discovery, says that last winter his wife was attacked with la grippe, and her case grew so serious that physicians at Cowden and Pana could do nothing for her. It seemed to develop into hasty consumption. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in store, and selling lots of it, he took a bottle home, and to the surprise of all she began to get better from first dose, and half dozen dollar bottles cured her sound and well. Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds is guaranteed to do this good work. Try it. Free trial bottles at C. E. Holton's drug store.

DISCONTENTED WITH BLANCO.

Havana, via Key West, Nov. 12.—Gen. Blanco's subordinates are already manifesting their discontent. Gen. Bazan sailed today for Spain, because he does not agree with the plans of the new Captain-General.

The Cubans are very active in Santa Clara, Havana, and Pinar del Rio. At Jaruco, Havana, a Spanish military train has been blown up with dynamite by the insurgents, killing and wounding many Spanish soldiers. The wounded were brought today to the capital.

This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whiskey nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative. Are You Subject to Attacks of COLIC?

If So, There is No Need to Suffer.

Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy

WILL CURE YOU

For several years I had been subject to severe attacks of cramp colic. Sometimes they would last me an hour and hardly a week passed that I did not have several attacks. I tried everything that was suggested, but found no relief. During these attacks the muscles of the arm and leg were terribly drawn and the whole body was cramped. I was advised to try Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy, which gave me relief at once, but not until I had taken two dozen bottles was I entirely cured. It was eight years ago since I took the remedy, and I have not had a touch of the trouble since.

A PERSONAL APPEAL

To the Subscribers to the Y. M. C. A. Fund.

TO THE SUBSCRIBERS OF THE Y. M. C. A.:

The Young Men's Christian Association of Greensboro, having carried a heavy debt for several years, greatly impairing its usefulness and rendering its support unusually and increasingly burdensome, the board of directors, after careful consideration, have decided to close the rooms, and sell the furniture, books and apparatus, collect subscriptions due and pay all outstanding indebtedness. They believe this wiser than would be an attempt to continue the work with the old burden of debt. Most of the property has been sold at a fair valuation, and if all who made subscriptions for the support of the work will come forward and pay, the directors will be able to pay the debts of the association without great loss to themselves.

The association was kept open by the directors last year, ending October 31st, on the strength of their faith in these subscriptions and they now urge prompt payment so that all business connected with the association may be closed up as early as possible. All directors are authorized to make collections.

Respectfully,
P. P. CLAXTON, Pres.
For the Board of Directors.

Fire at Madison.

The dwelling house and furniture of Walter Rankin, at Madison, was destroyed by fire yesterday about 11 o'clock. At the time the fire occurred Mr. Rankin was at the tobacco warehouse attending a sale. The fire must have gained considerable headway before the alarm was given, as the building and all the furniture was completely destroyed. The family escaped without injury.

Mr. Rankin, it will be remembered, was at one time a resident of Greensboro.

The Home of Fashion.

Men of fashion find our stock replete with nobbiest importations. Clothes are the outward expression of your taste. "Costly thy habit as thy purse can buy, but not expressed in fancy; rich—not gaudy, for the apparel oft proclaims the man." The truth is always the strongest argument. Pleasing our patrons makes life pleasant for us.

A Good Combination:

WEAR	The looks of clothing may be a temporary availment, but if good service be not with them, they'll never please you.
FIT	A poor fitting garment, no matter how the material, should not be worn by an up-to-date dresser.
STYLE	A suit needs this to catch the eye and aid you in appearance.
PRICE	Uniting the foregoing elements in clothing to sell at prices to suit the times is just exactly what we are doing.

A Taste of Winter.

Soon you will need something heavier in the furnishing line. Remember that while summer was here we were looking after your wants. All you have to do is to come see how well we have provided for you. With us you will find everything up-to-date. Not yesterday, but today, tomorrow.

Liberality and fair dealing, good merchandise and moderate prices, have been the corner-stone of our success.
